

Name _____

Date _____

Block _____

Causes and Effects of the French and Indian War

Directions: As a direct result of the French and Indian War a number of events took place that moved the country closer to rebellion against British rule. The events listed below under the Cause column greatly influenced the events that are listed under the Effect column. Write the correct letter from the cause events to their respective effect/result. The chart will be filled out in class to review.

Causes:

- A). Britain needed money to pay for the French and Indian War.
- B). Colonists wanted to move into the lands West of the Appalachian Mountains.
- C). The French colonists developed close ties with a number of the Indian tribes.
- D). The colonists were not involved in decisions made by Britain that directly affected their lives.
- E). After the French and Indian War the British wanted to protect their newly own property.
- F). The Treaty that officially ended the French and Indian War.

Effects:

- _____ This gave Britain control over all lands East of the Mississippi River.
- _____ This is a major reason for the colonists desire to gain their independence from Britain.
- _____ Britain established the Stamp and Tea Taxes.
- _____ The British denied the colonists the right to do this in order to preserve peace with the Indian tribes.
- _____ Britain starts a policy of permanently stationing troops in the colonies.
- _____ Why most of the Indian tribes of North America sided with the French during the French and Indian War.

Cause	Effect
Britain needed money to pay for the French and Indian War.	Britain established the Stamp and Tea Taxes
Colonists wanted to move into the lands West of the Appalachian Mountains.	The British denied the colonists the right to do this in order to preserve peace with the Indian tribes.
The French colonists developed close ties with a number of the Indian tribes.	Why most of the Indian Tribes of North American sided with the French during the French and Indian War
The colonists were not involved in decisions made by Britain that directly affected their lives.	This is a major reason for the colonists desire to gain their independence from Britain.
After the French and Indian War the British wanted to protect their newly own property.	Britain starts a policy of permanently stationing troops in the colonies.
The Treaty that officially ended the French and Indian War.	This gave Britain control over all lands east of the Mississippi River.